Thurs. Oct. 25th 7:00-8:30pm
VIU Cowichan Campus, room 140. FREE.

Come to enjoy stunning photography and learn about the amazing local effort by Cowichan Valley Naturalists' Society to restore a large, self-sustaining breeding population of Western Bluebirds to their historic Garry Oak habitats of southwestern BC, including here in the Cowichan watershed.

About the Speaker: Genevieve R. Singleton, B.Sc., Biology; M.Ed., Counselling Psych..Genevieve is a mother of four, nature interpreter, biologist, environmental activist and unabashed nature lover. She leads nature walks for children all over the Valley, is the co-chair of the Cowichan Stewardship Roundtable and volunteer warden of several BC Parks. Says Genevieve, "My life work is being a mother and sharing my love of nature wherever I can."

This event is part of the Cowichan Watershed Board Speakers Series, in partnership with the Cowichan Valley Naturalists Society and the WildWings Nature and Arts Festival.
