Description

Cybersecurity is no longer optional for nonprofits. LTABC is pleased to welcome Technology Helps to present our October webinar which is designed to help nonprofits and land trusts understand common risks and act with practical, simple steps.

Technology Helps is dedicated to empowering the social sector in Canada with trusted, reliable, and affordable technology solutions. Their mission is to tackle technology poverty and bridge the digital divide for Canadian non-profits and social-purpose organizations. By offering services such as managed IT support, cybersecurity, and cloud solutions, they enable organizations to streamline their operations, allowing them to focus their valuable time and resources on achieving their core missions, rather than on navigating complex technological issues.

Topics covered:

- Nonprofits handle a lot of sensitive information, from donor and contact data to details about beneficiaries. In the Canadian context, what key obligations should nonprofits be aware of when it comes to data, technology, and cybersecurity?
- What are some of the most common risks and threats that nonprofits should watch out for?
- What practical steps can nonprofits take to reduce their exposure to these risks? How can they assess whether their current protections are effective?
- If a breach does occur, what should an organization do?

As always, this webinar is free for our Members and Associate Members.

We look forward to seeing you there!

Denise

The land trusts of British Columbia: Together conserving BC's future

LTABC is grateful to have the opportunity to meet and work on many Indigenous homelands across this land we share, British Columbia, and we acknowledge that land trusts are located on the traditional territories of First Nations across the province.
